The Winthrop
WROUGHT IRON FURNACE.
Brick and Portable sizes Brick 5 sizes Portable.
Simple and Durable in its Construction As easily Managed as a Parlor Stove, Large Radiation Entire Freedom from Coal and Dust, Does not heat the Cellar
Manufactured by DIGHTON FURNACE CO.
In the construction of the Winthrop Hot Air Furnace it has been made a study to avoid the difficulties and annoyances too often found in Furnaces, Pure warm air, free from gas and dust, is the great desideratum sought. Without enlarging upon the important matter of warming and ventilating houses, about which so much has been written of late we desire to call your attention to the New Wrought Iron Winthrop Heater, as possessing the requisites for a healthful and economical apparatus.
The base and fire pot of the Winthrop, is made of heavy cast iron, the fire pot lined with brick so that the current of cold air as it comes in from the base does not come in contact with red hot plates, destroying its vitality but is delivered into the hot air chamber pure and healthful
The Radiator is made of the best Wrought Iron, as thoroughly riveted as a steam boiler, making the escape of gas and dust an impossibility, thus securing what cannot be guaranteed by any Cast Iron Furnace, with its many flues and joints, a healthful atmosphere.
The reverberatory flue insures the even distribution of heat over the whole furnace, leaving no part useless thus making it the most powerful heater in the market Another distinguishing feature of the Winthrop is the ease with which the flue can be cleaned out. This has been a serious difficulty with most furnaces, but has been entirely overcome in the Winthrop. The accumulation of soot and ashes in the flues can be thoroughly removed in a few minutes. The Winthrop has been thoroughly tested, and we invite all in want of a superior heating apparatus to an examination of its merits
For sale by

THE OHIO REPUBLICANS

The following platform was adopted with great unanimity at the Ohio Republican State Convention at Columbus on Wednesday:

Resolved, First—That we reaffirm the principles and policy of the Republican party as enunciated by the National Convention, and that we are proud of its history and great services, and that we demand of public agents an honest execution of the pledges made to the people, purity, integrity and economy in the discharge of official duties, and prompt and fearless examination and punishment of those who violate any of their obligations.

Second—We favor tariff for revenue, with such incidental protection as may foster and encourage American industry.

Third—We denounce all forms of open or covert repudiation, and a demand that the debt of the United States be paid in accordance with the letter and spirit of the laws under which it was created, and it is the duty of the National Government to adopt such measures as shall gradually, but certainly, restore our paper money to specie payment without a shock to the business interests of the country

Fourth—That when the currency shall have been restored to specie value, banking should be made free, so that the circulating medium may be expanded or contracted, according to the demands of commerce and trade

Fifth—The Democratic party has shown itself incompetent to deal with the question of cheap transportation and all internal improvements, that cheap and prompt transportation of the products of industry should be promoted by the National and State Governments by appropriate legislation

Sixth—That we heartily indorse the present Republican Congress in repealing the law increasing official salaries; in reducing the expenses by more than $20,000,000, in successfully resisting all jobs; in abolishing the extravagant Government of the District of Columbia, and in reforming abuses generally, whereby the Republican party has proved to be worthy of the continued support of the people.

Seventh—That the recent outrages and murders in the South, of which unoffending colored citizens have been the victims, committed in pursuance of the avowed purpose of maintaining an exclusive white man's government, demand and hereby receive the indignant condemnation of the Republicans of Ohio.

Eighth—That the restraint of intemperance and its causes to the full extent of Legislative, Judicial and Police powers of the State, and forfeiture of public trust for intoxication, are demanded for the moral and material welfare of society.

Ninth—That we deprecate the action of the present General Assembly in reorganizing the punitive and benevolent institutions of the State for merely partisan and political purposes as tending inevitably to the impairment of their efficiency and usefulness.

ADDRESS OF GOV. NOYES.

An advance copy of ex-Governor Noyes' speech made at the ratification meeting in the evening, was sent to the New York city papers In it he says the great questions of day are the management of the finances, cheap transportation, the thorough pacification and development of prosperity in the South, the civil rights of the colored people and the promotion of such moral reforms as are necessary for the public good. He says it is for the country to determine whether the republican party, which has done so much, is better prepared to master these important matters, or the democracy, which has done nothing and attempted nothing except to embarrass the best efforts of the administration. He referred to the different stands taken by the different democratic conventions on the revenue, tariff and finances, and said the republican party were agreed on paying the debt of the country as agreed upon, and in the earliest resumption of specie payments. He continued his remarks in a line with the sentiments of the platform adopted by the convention, claiming that cheap transportation was needed by New England, the South and the West What is wanted is a scheme just to the public and just to the railroad companies and when such a scheme is perfected there is no doubt Congress will enact it—at least republican congressmen can be entrusted with the matter

In reference to the present troubles in the South, he traced them to the fact that the worst element there thought they saw evidence in the North that their friends, the democrats, the old allies of slavery and secession were about to obtain control of the government again, and then commenced their old lawlessness, persecution of negroes and loyal whites, which within the last few weeks has culminated in wholesale murder and the most appalling outrages. The poor, ignorant colored people sadly need opportunities for education and culture. He favored separate schools, but insisted that, somehow, every child shall have the benefits of the common school The republican party opposed slavery, so it will oppose oppression of every sort, and the colored man must be protected by the same law that is over us all. He derided the third term gasconade, and closed as follows —

Party ties in this country are not as strong as formerly, for intelligent men are beginning to think and act for themselves, without regard to party leaders Indeed, no man can be a leader who is not in accord with the better and highest sentiments of his constituents. It now becomes all honest and upright citizens to take their stand for principle and right, looking forward with confidence to a grand and prosperous career for the nation, and assured that he who does his duty fearlessly and faithfully will be rewarded with the approbation of his countrymen.

OBITUARY.

MAJ. GEN. JOHN G FOSTER.

The death of Major General John G. Foster, U S. A., occurred at the residence of his mother in Nashua, N.H. at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning He was the last of four brothers, three of whom died young, and he was born at Whitefield, Coos County, N. H, on the 27th of May, 1822, and was therefore fifty two years of age in May last. When ten years old he removed to Nashua, where he attended the public schools. He also attended the Baptist High School at Hancock, N. H, and subsequently fitted for West Point Military Academy at David Crosby's Literary Institute in Nashua. At the request of the Hon Charles G Atherton, then a Representative in Congress from New Hampshire, and Franklin Pierce, then United States Senator, in 1842, he was appointed cadet at West Point, and entered in June of that year. He graduated at that institution, ranking number four in the class in 1846, with Generals McClellan, Reno, Couch, Seymour, Sturgis, Stoneman, Oakes and Gordon of the Union army, and Jackson and Wilcox of the rebel army He was in the Mexican war, and in 1847 was breveted first lieutenant, "For gallant and meritorious conduct in the battles of Contreras and Cherubusco." At the storming of El Molino del Rey he fell severely wounded. For his gallantry here he was breveted captain. In 1854 he was appointed assistant professor of engineering at West Point. He was second in command at Fort Sumter when it was first fired upon by the rebels from Charleston, in April, 1861, and for the heroism he displayed on this occasion he was promoted to Brigadier General of Volunteers General Foster accompanied General Burnside's expedition into North Carolina, bore a conspicuous part in the battle of Roanoke Island, the capture of Newbern, and received the unconditional surrender of all the batteries, all the defences, and all the troops—over 2000—upon the island, in February, 1862 In July he was left in command of the department of North Carolina, with a force barely sufficient to hold the positions left him by General Burnside, who had been ordered with the main part of his force to Fortress Monroe. Late in the Autumn, he was considerably re enforced by new regiments from Massachusetts, when he resolved to assume the offensive. He led an expedition from Washington, N C, through Williamston to Hamilton on the Roanoke, where he expected to find and destroy some iron-clads in process of construction, but there were none. The result of the expedition was the liberation of several hundred slaves. In April, 1863, the rebel General Hill made an attack on Washington, N C, and was handsomely repulsed by General Foster. In October, he succeeded General Burnside in East Tennessee. General Foster's conduct in every position in which he was placed gave him a reputation for gallantry and skill such as was enjoyed by but few of his fellow officers.

A STERN REALITY.

A short time since the Portland Press, in [illegible] of mingled skepticism and sarcasm, published an article treating lightly of the butcheries in the South, from which that delightful Democratic sheet, the Maine Standard, was enabled to copy the following extract with its commendation:

"There are a good many Republicans who receive the accounts of Southern outrages at this season of the year with an internal suggestion that there is a curious coincidence between the recurrence of these tales of horror and the opening of the political campaigns. The [illegible] that these stories may be created for political capital develops in them a very wholesome disgust. They are not hard or [illegible] unsympathetic, but are a little incredulous, having frequently noticed this same mysterious correlation of negro murder and the fall season of every year. Their sympathies are as keen and their philanthropy as active as ever, but their faith is much beset with queries."

We have noticed that our Portland contemporary has since discovered that there is something more serious than political rumor in "these tales of horror"—the smile of incredulity fading in a ghastly way before the undisputed facts of the cold blooded massacres in Gibson County, Tennessee, Coushatta, Louisiana and elsewhere. Our experience has been that so far from there being exaggerations of the lawlessness and assassinations in the South the facts have always proved more horrible than the reports, while unnumbered murders have undoubtedly been committed of which no positive record has reached the public. And when it is remembered that these reports emanate in the first instance from Democratic sources, we should be prepared for the more terrible truth which still may follow. Our neighbor's editorial columns have already given evidence that it was hasty in ridiculing the death cries of the victims of organized murder, and the following extracts published in its Friday's issue show its discovery that the bloody work of the White League is regarded with deep concern by other journals:—

Mentioning the Southern outrages, the Hartford Courant remarks: "Meanwhile for every thinking voter there is food for thought in the significant fact that these murders and outrages are most epidemic whenever temporary successes, south and north, have inflated the old rebel democratic party with the hope of again crawling into power."

Of the Southern outrages, the Springfield Republican (independent) says, "It is almost impossible to overstate the gravity of the situation, the magnitude of the peril, the necessity for prompt and energetic action. We are not thinking now of the fall elections, nor even of the probability of armed federal interference with its train of consequences. We are thinking of the inevitable reaction in public sentiment at the North; we are thinking of the inevitable halt to all progress, moral, political, material, at the South. The prospect is simply appalling."

The Louisville (Kentucky) Courier-Journal cries out: "We give it up. There was a chance that the next House of Representatives would not be Radical. That chance is gone. The outbreaks in Kentucky and the massacre in Tennessee settle that much. No people, no party could stand under such a load as the people of the South and the Democratic party of the North are forced to carry."

And these are but mild expressions compared with those forced from journals in the immediate vicinity of the outrages and where the facts are too well known to admit of denial or apology. When Southern Democratic papers alarmed at the horrible excesses which they have incited, are compelled to denounce the hellish work of the White League as outrivaling the atrocities of Modocs and Comanches, it is time for the people, the journals and the Government of the United States to recognize that the reign of terror at the South is not the invention of campaign writers but a stern and bloody reality.

SOMERSET COUNTY. The Republicans of Somerset County have nominated the following ticket: For Senators, Abel Prescott and W. H. Stevens; Clerk of Courts, L. H. Webb; Co. Comm'r, F. G. Greene; Treasurer, H. C. Hall. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the State platform, promising hearty support to Gov. Dingley, Hon. J. G. Blaine and the County candidates, and declaring that Somerset is overwhelmingly Republican as will be manifested at the polls.

LEARNING OF JEFF DAVIS. The Springfield Republican thinks that "when such men as Jefferson Davis and Gen. Forrest take part in public meetings called to demand the doing of swift justice upon the murderers of negroes, public sentiment at the South cannot be quite so hopelessly depraved as some alarmists would make it out." The reading of Davis's speech will convince one that the time has not quite yet come for enrolling him among the prophets. He told his hearers that they had not met merely to express their horror of a particular crime, but to show what was due, among other things, to the "gallant dead who fell for the sacred cause of Southern independence." He wanted the world to know that Southerners were not maskers, though he could not show that the Gibson county assassins were not Southerners. He claimed that Southern men are "the only friends the negroes have to-day in any part of the world," and that these negroes will need the white man to provide for them and protect them to the end of time. "The only feeling of indignation," he says, "I have is against the white men who have disturbed this relation between us; who have fomented discord." In short, it is the old slave master that speaks, and in his terms of lordly patronage to the negro there is no more sentiment of equal rights than there is in the minds of the followers of Davis who are committing these horrible outrages.—[Boston Journal.

And the Journal would have given a more perfect idea of the spirit with which the arch-traitor discussed the right of equal protection by the laws of a free country, in quoting entire the following specimen of his "plantation talk":

"The Southern men are the only friends the negro has in any part of the world. It becomes us to be their friends. Every Southern man's memory runs back to the good old black woman who nursed him in his infancy, and then to the boy who hunted and fished with him, and the man who learned him to ride. All remember with what joy and manifestations of love the nurse welcomes him back home after he had reached manhood. While these memories cluster around him, he can never forget them when they stood in those relations which I believe God intended that they should occupy. If those relations have been disturbed, it has been by those incendiaries who have come in among us only to stir up strife."

Senator West of Louisiana states that there have been a hundred political murders in the South within three weeks.

The Boston Globe, learning that the notorious Moulton was at Lowell Thursday in consultation with Ben Butler and James Redpath, sent a reporter to interview the latter. He would not say much, but insisted that although Moulton "has made some errors of judgment" he is "one of the best friends Mr. Beecher ever had and has, for he loves him yet." Being reminded by the reporter that Moulton has accused Beecher of confessing adultery, Mr. Redpath made the following reply, which, as coming from a person recently in close conference with the accuser, is certainly significant.

Redpath—"Yes; but that might have been an inference rather than a statement. I once got myself into a scrape (or very nearly so) by receiving a statement in the light of a preconceived theory, which I found afterwards to be incorrect. However, Mr. Moulton has not authorized me to explain his theories or make his statement—so, I have nothing more to say.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher has joined her husband at the Twin Mountain House, having recovered from the illness with which she was attacked in church last Sunday.

Rev. Thomas K. Beecher has written a long letter to the Elmira Gazette, in which he extols his brother, Henry Ward Beecher and says that the use of his former letter to his sister to his disadvantage was but a renewal of the dishonorable acts by which it became public property.

The Boston Advertiser, in speaking of the defeat of Judge Poland in Vermont, say that in addition to the local influences against him, "Some support was given by one or two things in the official conduct of Judge Poland, which his opponents magnified out of all proportion to the importance. The measure of the last session, which has been industriously represented as a "press gag" law, has been used against him persistently and with malice. Whatever errors of judgment Mr. Poland may have made, he has rendered important services to his State and country not to be soon forgotten."

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The inflation platform of the Missouri Democracy finds no favor with the German press of that State.

The election on the new Constitution in Arkansas, and for the officers under it, has been fixed for Oct. 13.

A bolt occurred in the Kansas Republican State Convention, which is thus far sustained by eight Republican papers.

Brick Pomeroy is now an enthusiastic Granger, and professes to be much ashamed of his old illiberal prejudice against all non-Democrats.

Gov. Taylor, of Wisconsin, says that the Constitutions of fifteen States contain provisions respecting corporations similar to those of Wisconsin.

Mr. Ellis H. Roberts, editor of the Utica Herald, who had determined not to be a candidate for Congress again, has consented to run, and thereby does a good thing for the whole country.

Senator Cameron says there is no truth in his intending to resign his seat. He feels as well as he ever did, and, although he is nearly 76 years old, he is as strong and hearty as an ordinary man at 50.

The Missouri People's Convention nominated the following ticket: For Governor, William Gentry; Lieutenant Governor, S. G. Headlee; Secretary of State, W. R. Lefelt; Auditor, E. C. Hale; Treasurer, J. H. Fisse; Attorney General, D. S. Twitchell.

At the Pennsylvania Democratic Convention, a resolution was passed in favor of a reduction in the number of office holders—a sure sign that the Democracy have no hope of carrying the State, for they were never known when in power to abolish an office.

The Republican Convention of the Third Tennessee District nominated Daniel Nelson for Congress. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the recent outrages, deprecating the white man's party movement, and counselling moderation on the part of the negroes.

The third term correspondent of the New York Herald pretends to say that President Grant has in his possession a letter from Mr. Washburn, in which the Minister expresses the conviction that the nation will need Grant's services another term, and that he should accept a third nomination. Bosh!

In informing ex Gov. Walker of his nomination for Congress by the Virginia Democracy, the President of the Convention wrote: "Let me whisper in your ear that we consider our civilization much better than Northern civilization, and we expect you to be as true to us as we are to you." Walker must do his share of dirt eating if he wants office at the hands of the Virginia Democracy.

NEW SWEDEN

A DEMOCRAT'S ACCOUNT OF THE COLONY

[From the Portland Press.]

The following letter to a gentleman in this city, gives an interesting account of the situation in New Sweden. Mr. Hardison, the writer, is the Democratic treasurer of the Democratic town of Lyndon, and is a man of long and thorough experience in Aroostook, and, therefore, as well qualified to judge of what he writes as any man in Maine or elsewhere. As our opponents are trying to make political capital out of this matter, the testimony of Mr. Hardison is of special value.

CARIBOU, Aug. 29, 1874.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter was received last evening on my return from New Sweden, where I, in company with N. B. Lufkin, Esq., had spent the last seven days in traveling from house to house over the entire colony, including Woodland, Perham and Lyndon. We have not left one improvement unnoticed. I have not visited the colony but once or twice in two years. I was very much surprised at the improvements which had been made in that time. Those who have had the least help are the ones that are doing the best. We were there during the frosty nights, which have done but very little damage. Three fourths of the places do not show one mark of frost. Most of their crops are looking splendid and are entirely out of danger from frost. Much of their grain has already been cut, and a number of grists threshed out ready for the mill. Every man and woman was either harvesting their grain or piling for another crop.

There has been much said about the suffering in New Sweden, and perhaps I have done as much towards exciting the people as any other man, for I was really alarmed for them. I knew they had their bread to buy this summer, and they had, in most cases, to buy with shingles. Shingles went down, and it was said traders were not going to buy, and that Messrs. Teague & Sawin were about to shut up their store in New Sweden. About this time there was not one barrel of flour to be bought in Caribou. Now think of it, those people shut up away back there, from nine to fifteen miles from Caribou, with nothing but shingles to buy their bread with! I think that it was enough to alarm most any people. Messrs. Teague & Sawin, however, changed their minds, and in a few days put fifty barrels of flour into New Sweden. Since that time all have been mostly able to support themselves with the exception of a few sick families and widows.

Most every family has one cow, quite a number have two; there are as many cows in the colony as there are families. Their cows look first rate, and it is a wonder to me how they keep them looking so well.

There have been some mistakes; one was in allowing them to settle on poor lots. You will recollect what I said about it, that the success of this colony depended more upon their location than any one thing. Those that are well located are doing well and are hopeful, while others are disappointed.

As a whole it is a success in my mind. The colony has raised ten months' bread this season sure. I made particular inquiry of every family how they were getting along, and whether they were dissatisfied or not. Their answer was invariably that they were satisfied and had no wish to leave the country.

Most respectfully yours,
JACOB HARDISON.

Dr. SCHENCK'S

Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills.

These medicines have undoubtedly performed more cures of Consumption than any other remedy known to the American public. They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be injurious to the human constitution.

Other remedies advertised as cures for Consumption, probably contain opium, which is a somewhat dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patients, it must do great injury; for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which, of course, must make a cure impossible.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is warranted not to contain a particle of opium. It is composed of powerful but harmless herbs, which act on the lungs, liver, stomach and blood, and thus correct all morbid secretions, and expel all the diseased matter from the body. These are the only means by which Consumption can be cured, and as Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are the only medicines which operate in this way, it is obvious they are the only genuine cure for Pulmonary Consumption. Each bottle of this invaluable medicine is accompanied by full directions.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, and at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following Wednesdays, June 10th and 24th, July 8th and 22d, and August 5th and 19th.

MRS. MANCHESTER,

THE INDEPENDENT

ECLECTIC PHYSICIAN,

has arrived in Bangor and taken rooms at the BANGOR HOUSE, for a short time only.

Mrs. Manchester

is constantly receiving unsolicited testimonials of the astonishing cures performed by her. Among many recently received are the following, which are recommended to the notice of the afflicted.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh, my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skilful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Maine.

ONE OF THE GREATEST CURES ON RECORD.

BANGOR, June 20, 1871.

This certifies that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of physicians, and found no relief until I called on Mrs. Manchester a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult Mrs. Manchester, and not to be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

There are two things in dress which distinguish the true lady—FINE GLOVES AND NEAT FITTING BOOTS—lacking which, although attired in the richest of silk or the glossiest of satin, she fails in the principal elements of the character, and is instantly set down as a sham.

THE FINE WALKING BOOT bearing the name and monogram stamp of S. MUNSON & CO., ALBANY, are the BEST MADE and NEATEST FITTING goods of the age, marking the wearer as a LADY.

They will always appear neat, keeping their shape on the foot until quite worn out, and with this and other advantages, are the cheapest for a lady to purchase.

THE DISASTROUS FIRE AT GREENVILLE—$250,000 LOSS.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 4. The following are the particulars concerning the fire at Greenville, Miss., Wednesday morning. The fire, which is supposed to have been incendiary, originated in the grocery store of Morgan & Platt, crossed Mulberry street going east and Main street west, destroying the entire portion of the town from Mulberry street to the river, embracing nearly all the business houses of the place, in all 78; valued at over a quarter of million dollars. The insurance amounts to about $150,000. There will be considerable suffering, as nearly all the provisions in the town were destroyed. A man named Major Thompson has been arrested on suspicion as the incendiary.

WASHINGTON.

ORDERS TO TROOPS IN THE SOUTH.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4. Attorney-General Williams, before leaving the city last evening, addressed a letter to the Secretary of War designating the localities in which troops are most needed to suppress outrages. This letter, with the circular issued yesterday, was enclosed to Gen. McDowell, commanding the Department of the South, this morning, with instructions to so distribute the force as to protect the localities designated.

A SUPERVISORSHIP.

The President has advised the Secretary of the Treasury to withhold for the present any contemplated change in the matter of making a new appointment in place of Internal Revenue Supervisor Cobb, of North Carolina.

DISTRIBUTION OF TROOPS IN THE SOUTH.

No formal order was issued from the War Department as to the distribution of troops, but the whole matter will be left with the department commander, who will dispose of the forces so that they can be used by Marshals in case of necessity. The Federal troops in the South are now distributed as follows. Three companies of the Second Infantry in Alabama, six in Georgia and one in Tennessee; the entire Third Infantry at Holly Springs, Miss., three companies of the Sixteenth Infantry in Kentucky, two in Arkansas, one in Mississippi, one in Louisiana and one in Tennessee, eight companies of the Eighteenth Infantry in South Carolina and two in Georgia, eight companies of the First Artillery in Florida, one in Georgia; two in South Carolina and one in Virginia; six companies of the Second Artillery in North Carolina, one in South Carolina, one in Virginia and one in Maryland—making the total number of troops in the Southern States between 2,500 and 3,000. The Third Infantry was ordered to Louisiana several months ago, but, on account of the warm weather and liability to fever, it was decided that the regiment should remain at Holly Springs, Miss., until fall. It will now be hurried to Louisiana.

GOLDSMITH MAID.

THE FASTEST TIME ON RECORD.

The following account is given of the great performance of Goldsmith Maid at Mystic Park on Wednesday, when she trotted for $2500 to beat her record of 2 14¾:—

The track being as it is, one of the best in the country, if not the best, was in good condition, and bets were high that the Maid would win the purse. Budd Doble drove her and her owner, Mr. Smith, eagerly watched the trots from the stand. The track was scraped anew at the conclusion of the second heat of the first race, and as the Maid made her appearance the applause of the spectators was most enthusiastic. George Ayres' mare Jennie, driven by Golden, also appeared to run with the Maid.

In the first heat, off they went, the Maid not breaking once, and apparently making no effort whatever. She passed the half in 1:10, and made the mile with great ease in 2 1[illegible]. It was found that the driver carried eight pounds over weight, which was reduced by lowering the weight of the cushions. This, however, did not in the least discourage those who had profound faith in her powers, and that she would be allowed to show them, and about five o'clock preparations were made for the second heat, the track being again scraped.

The interest manifested was intense. Every one who could do so mounted an elevated position, and eagerly watched for the start, which was made shortly, the Maid passing the wire at wonderful speed and speeding on to the quarter, which she passed in 33¼ seconds. There was some suspicion of a break just before the half, it might have been a skip, but many thought not, and it was so slight no one could be certain that it was one. She passed the half in 1:06¼, and flew on with unprecedented speed, closely followed by the runner. The third was turned, and now the trial moment arrived. The driver wanted to score the best time ever made, and the Maid was in sympathy with him, and he had but to urge her to do her best and the noble trotter bravely made the endeavor, coming down the home stretch magnificently and shooting under the wire in just 2:14. The deafening cheers that filled the air was the response, and proudly did Budd Doble alight from the sulky, when the Queen was led to her stable.

The following is a summary of the heats by quarter and half miles:—

Race against time for a purse of $2500. Three trials.

ROMANCE ABOUT A LATE ENGLISH BISHOP. The following romantic story is told concerning the marriage of the late Dr. Sumner, a Bishop in the English Church: When a young man he was tutor to Lord Albert Conyngham, afterward Lord Londesborough, now deceased, with whom he went to the Continent. There the young Lord fell desperately in love with a pretty Swiss girl, whom he proposed to marry. The tutor at once informed the young man's parents and lamented the blindness of his pupil. Lady Conyngham with rare tact suggested that in order to avoid the danger so imminent, Sumner himself should marry the girl, a suggestion that was promptly acted upon. Thus securing the friendship of the Conynghams, Sumner was introduced at Court, was raised from one post to another till finally he attained to his latest distinction, and the girl who was not good enough to be a Marchioness came in the end to the higher honor of being a Bishop's lady. The whirligig of time brings around its revenges.

From the hotel the company went to Mayor Blake's residence on Ohio-st., and after some choice music by the band were invited in by His Honor and partook of the choice refreshments provided for them. On leaving the Mayor's the next and last place visited was T. N. Egery Esq's, where some delightful music was discoursed and the company invited in to partake of refreshments.

THE SHOOTISTS. As we have already mentioned, the first pigeon tournament in this State occurs on the 8th and 9th insts., at the Lewiston Driving Park, under the direction of the Androscoggin Sporting Club. The shooting will commence at 10 o'clock A. M. for the following prizes: a diamond badge valued at $100, and the championship of the State; a fly-rod valued at $15, and a Smith & Wesson revolver valued at $10. The contestants to shoot at fifteen birds each. J. W. McDuffee, of Lewiston, will present a gold medal to be shot for by members of the Androscoggin Club, and after that there will be a sweepstakes, open to all amateurs, $5 entrance fee, five birds each.

THE CONCERT OF THE MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE CLUB, at City Hall, last evening, was attended by a not large, but select and appreciative audience, who gave a hearty welcome to their old favorites of the Club as well as to the new members, Messrs. Hamm and Hennig, who made their first appearance here last evening, and Miss Henrietta Beebe, of New York, who sang for the first time in this city. To those who have heard this Club—and who has not?—it is needless to say anything of the manner of their performance, except that the programme was an excellent one, and was performed in a style worthy of their high reputation. Messrs. Hamm and Hennig, in their solos, showed themselves superior artists, and worthy of the places which they fill in the Club, which is praise enough. Miss Beebe was unfortunately suffering from a very severe cold, which almost incapacitated her from attempting to sing, and which prevented the performance of the last piece assigned to her on the programme. With a great effort, however, she sung the ballad, "Bid Me Discourse" and the "Angel's Serenade," in a manner that at once won all hearts, and stamped her as a true artist, with a voice of great sweetness and compass, and indicating fine culture and control. She was warmly received, and those who listened to her last night under such adverse circumstances will only be too glad to welcome her here at some future time under more favorable conditions. The concert was, as would be expected from the talented artists, a first-class one, and that it was highly appreciated by the audience was evident from the frequent applause and hearty encores of the performers.

THE STATE MUSTER—FOURTH DAY.

The rain of Thursday night was succeeded by a clear, brilliant and bracing morning, affording for the closing exercises at Camp Dingley the most favorable weather, and putting the streets in the best possible condition for pedestrianism and riding.

Surgeon's call found four new cases on the sick list. The Sergeant's call found, including rank and file, together with the bands, about nine hundred men in the encampment.

The Hamlin Light Infantry finding their experience of the previous day so pleasant, decided to remain on the field, rations being assigned them and finding a hospitable welcome for the night among the friendly tents. They were also accorded the honor of doing guard duty during the day.

GUARD MOUNTING

around the parade ground attracted much interest on the part of the spectators. This service is a severe tax upon men unaccustomed to such slow and measured exercise for two hours without relief. During the muster one or two cases of faintness have occurred from this prolonged and wearisome exercise, and required the administration of restoratives. The detail required for this duty also greatly depletes the ranks. During the night double guard is mounted about the camp and the orders are strict against egress without a positive order, and egress without the countersign. During the night a persistent interloper, attempting to enter camp was dissuaded only by a pointed use of the bayonet which put a period to his career with red ink.

To test the guards in their knowledge of and adherence to this duty, superior officers in disguise sometimes resort to stratagem. On one occasion a tester engaged a sentinel in conversation, volunteering to show him how to carry his musket. The neophyte, being thus thrown off his guard, handed over his gun, which immediately "went off" to the officer of the guard, very much to the sentinel's mortification.

CAMP INSPECTION

came off in the forenoon programme, for which the men had made ready, as was evident in the complete order observable around and within each tent. The visit of the inspecting officer, who gave a close look, appeared as satisfactory to himself as the unofficial lookers-on. The appearance of the tents and surroundings is creditable to the men, who seem disposed as well as skilful in making such facilities as are furnished them contribute the most comfort possible. Six or seven occupy a tent, and, with straw and boughs for mattress, their camp blanket completes their night equipment for refreshing slumber.

BATTALION DRILL

followed the inspection, both by the regimental and unattached companies, and the Light Artillery were exercised in their drill. Col Mattocks labored under some hoarseness from the severe tax imposed on his voice, but it soon became more clear, and the manual drill and various movements were finely executed. The troops having been dismissed to quarters, the officers of the line marched to a suitable point on the parade ground and took position for a photograph by Marston. This being completed, the officers proceeded to the interesting episode of adopting, by official action, the youngest of Lieut. Col White's children as the

and Col. Mattocks and Capt. Small, of the Jameson Guards, and Capt. Reynolds, of the Portland Light Infantry, were appointed a committee to arrange a testimonial worthy of the child of their adoption.

The off duty hours of the boys in camp were made merry by their playful humor and ludicrous pranks, and among them are found many social good fellows, full of wit and invention. Among the rougher jokes is that of tossing the corporal in a blanket. We happened to witness one of the improvisations of the Portland Blues, in which the corporal is a leading spirit. A detail, with reversed arms, followed by four men bearing a blanket by the four corners and containing the found about camp, proceeded, with slow drum-beat, to a bean-pole, where, with the dirge "America," and some affecting remarks by the corporal, they were consigned with a smash.

THE PRIZE DRILL

for individual excellence took place at 1½ o'clock in front of headquarters, in the presence of Gen. Chamberlain and staff and a large number of officers of the line and civilians. Major Sanger, U. S. A. Military Instructor at Bowdoin College, acted as judge. Only five men entered the lists. Corporals Hathorn and Getchell of the Jameson Guards, and Serg't Miles of the Hersey Light Infantry were drilled under the call of Lieut. Davis of the Jamesons; and Serg'ts McCallum and Feehan of the Montgomery Guards under the call of Capt. McMahon of the latter company. This drill consisted of the manual and bayonet exercise, performed with great precision, although the men in so conspicuous a trial exhibited some nervousness and made some trivial failures. The first gold medal was awarded to Serg't McCallum of the Montgomerys and the second to Corporal Hathorn of the Jamesons—the medals being affixed by Gen. Chamberlain to the breasts of the men, who were received by their comrades and friends with enthusiastic cheers. The customary privileges accorded the men on the last camp day to indulge their sportive propensity gave rise to a which held the field at 2 o'clock and which was highly enjoyed by the participants as well as lookers on, especially by the youngsters. The battalion consisted of about one hundred men, in the most grotesque rig, bearing a gray camp blanket for regimental colors, accompanied by portions of the Portland and Salem bands, similarly dressed and under the command of a terrific drum major. The mounted reviewing staff was large and imposing. The orders read by the adjutant were full of sharp hits and created immense fun. The band played "Pop Goes the Weasel" and other appropriate airs and the troops dismissed upon the field, scampered treble quick to their quarters.

STRIKING TENTS

At 3 15, at the signal gun, all being made ready, the tents were almost instantaneously struck, and the work of packing up made things look lively upon the camp ground. The equipage was stored, the tents rolled up and the tent poles bundled. This was followed by the last lunch and interchange between neighbor-companies of best wishes and regards in rousing cheers.

At the regimental mess table of Lieut. Nason a vote of thanks, with complimentary remarks, was tendered him for the excellent manner in which he had discharged his important trust. It was said that if he had charge of the mess last year all the officers of the line would have been fed at his table this year. The compliment was well deserved.

THE GENERAL'S REVIEW

then took place, the line being formed the same as for the Governor's review on Thursday, and presenting a very fine spectacle. The guards were withdrawn from the lines and directed to report to their respective companies. The Jameson Guards and the Montgomery Guards were then ordered to march from the line in front of Gen. Chamberlain and staff, where the award of

was made—the first gold medal to the Jamesons, and the second to the Montgomerys. These awards were for the best drill and discipline, as exhibited during the encampment. Upon assuming their positions the line broke into column, marching in review. The Governor and his suite in carriage then wheeled into the column, in rear of the regiment, and Major General Chamberlain and staff galloping to the head of the column at 5. 15 and marched to the city. The column turned from Kenduskeag avenue into Jefferson street, and by Jefferson, Center, Garland, Broadway, State and Harlow streets, across Central bridge, paying a marching salute to the Mayor and members of the City Government, who occupied the balcony of Norombega Hall. The march was continued up Main street to the Bangor House, where the column was dismissed.

THE STREET PARADE

was an ovation for the troops, the route being densely crowded by thousands of spectators filled with admiration of the superb marching and inspired by the splendid music of the bands. The several companies, with the exception of the Montgomerys, who stay over till this morning, left for their homes by special trains and other conveyances about 8 o'clock. The encampment is acknowledged on all sides to have been in which the military education of the troops and the pleasurable entertainment of the public have been subserved, but the average visitor, who has had the pleasure of inspecting the camp in its fair weather organization in the piping times of peace, when all the requisites for its comfort are so readily obtained, cannot easily comprehend the other side of the picture so often presented in the exigencies of war, with the exposure to heat and cold and storm, the privations of the march, disarrangement and delays in the commissary department, shelterless rest upon the ground, and the other items in the catalogue of hardships familiar to a veteran's experience, which tell more heavily on the expenditure of life and vigor, than the sharp edge of battle.

Let this reminiscence of what so many of our sons, brothers and friends have gone through, or under which their lives were offered up, in the defence of our country and flag, reawaken a grateful appreciation of their heroic services and patriotic devotion, and give fresh lustre to the glory of a free Republic to which such a consecration was made.

Past experience, while disclosing for our admiration the noble qualities of our young men in the national exigency, should foster the cultivation of the art whose well conducted discipline produces not only good soldiers, but worthy citizens. Veterans in the late war almost wholly compose the staffs and subordinate commands of our State militia, many of whom have had with them on this field the camp chests which kept them company in many a hard campaign. With such a nucleus to give steadiness and inspiration to the service, youthful material is in plenty to give it fitting proportions and efficiency.

BANGOR POLICE COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE GOODENOW.

Friday, Sept. 4th. Abby Griffin came up as a common drunkard and brawler, for which she was sentenced to the House of Correction for thirty days and to pay the costs of prosecution. She appealed, and was ordered to give bonds to the amount of $100 to keep the peace one year, and $50 for her appearance at the S. J Court. The sureties were furnished.

THE HISSING AND HUSTLING SCENE IN PLYMOUTH CHURCH. The Christian Union contains the following editorial paragraph concerning the scene in Plymouth Church on the evening when the Investigating Committee's report was read:

"In justice to Plymouth Church, we feel called upon to correct the statements of some of the newspaper press regarding the disturbance caused by Mr F B Moulton's conduct at the meeting last Friday evening. And, first, it was not a 'prayer meeting,' but a business meeting of the Church, at which the society and the congregation (i. e., virtually the public) were invited to be present. It was Mr. Moulton's undoubted right to be present, not as a member of the society, for that he is not, but as a citizen of Brooklyn, though there is a question of taste involved, which need not be discussed. It would have been an outrage upon fairness if Mr. Moulton, one of the principal parties in the matter, had been allowed to speak to the meeting, in the absence of the other parties. No possible rule of free speech or fair play could justify Mr. Moulton in interrupting the one who was addressing the audience, and in introducing disorder into a harmonious meeting by shouting out, 'You are a liar.' The reporters have exaggerated the disturbance which occurred just where they were sitting, for a large part of the audience did not even know what the interruption was about. And finally, when he retired from the church, Mr Moulton was not 'attacked by a religious mob,' he was hustled by the street crowd of men and boys who were assembled on the outside of the building. The sentiment of the audience was expressed by Mr. White in the remark which drew forth hearty applause, and ended the slight disturbance in the house: 'In the name of Plymouth Church I ask that any man who does not openly disturb a public meeting shall be allowed to sit and hear the truth.'"

SUMMER COMPLAINTS.

Those who fear the advent of Cholera Morbus, Cramps and Pains, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and all the ailments and diseases incidental to the summer season, should procure a bottle of that great preventive of disease,

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER

THE DELICIOUS FAMILY MEDICINE.

It is the most reliable household remedy ever compounded. It never fails to afford the most gratifying relief. Its range of administration is boundless, its effect always certain, and so agreeable in flavor that it must supplant every other medicine in the treatment of the above ailments. Its claim to superiority consists in the combination of the True Jamaica Ginger, with the choicest aromatics and genuine French Brandy. Referring to this elegant combination,

DR. SANFORD SAYS,

"A series of experiments in the use of brandy in the treatment of diseases for which this preparation of Jamaica Ginger is recommended, convinced me that it is vastly superior to a cordial as made by all other manufacturers. It produces a more beneficial astringency in summer complaints, while its stimulating effects in the weak and sickly are more uniform and lasting. By its use also, the harsh, pungent taste of alcohol from which poisonous fusel oil is seldom absent, is entirely avoided.

Assured of its superiority over all other preparations of Jamaica Ginger, by careful comparison with all known "Essences" and "Extracts," the general agents offer in good faith a reward of

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA

New Revised Edition

Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several Thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision and to issue a new edition entitled THE AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of political and historical events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotyped plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fact a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition, have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopædia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to Subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large octavo volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.

TO ANY DESPONDING GENIUS.

BY ALICE CARY.

Take this for granted once for all,
There is not her chance nor fate,
And to sit and wait for the sky to fall,
Is to wait as the foolish wait.

The laurel used for, you must earn—
[illegible]

That another's head can have your crown
Is a judgment all untrue;
And to drag the man or throw her down,
Will not lift the laurel on you.

For in spite of your demur of mine,
The gods will still be the gods,
And the spark of genius will outshine
A hatch wood by all odds!

Be careful, careful work to do,
Though at cost of heart or head,
The praise even of the review
Will hardly stand in stead

No light that through the wages shine
To win bliss work below—
Men dig in thoughts as they dig in mines
For the jewels of their songs

A fresco painter in ceiling wrought,
With eyes strained, 'tis said,
Till he could read the fame so bought,
With the pages above his head

Hold not the world in debt to you
When it pays you day by day
For sunlight and air for the rose and dew
And all that cheers your way

And you in turn as an honest man,
And then you will understand,
To give back either the best you can,
Or to die, and be out of hand

The Stomach as an Avenger.

For every breach of the laws of health that we commit the stomach inflicts a penalty. Headache, biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, colic, heartburn, nausea, debility and mental depression are only a few of the punishments which an outraged stomach is capable of imposing upon us. To bring this revengeful organ to its normal condition—to placate, invigorate and regulate it—there is nothing in the world so potent as a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the operation of this beneficent vegetable corrective and tonic the gastric juice becomes a pure and healthful solvent and resumes its natural flow. The effect is the same in the bile secretion and in fact on all the fluids of the body, and thus the Bitters is the remover of every painful symptom occasioned by the morbid condition of the digestive organs.
